DIVIDERS, COVER & EMERGENCY PLANS, IN ONE SITTING

Sub binder starter pages

A binder cover, five printable dividers, and the shortlist of what to gather before you slide it all into a three-ring binder by the door. This gets the folder built — our paid Substitute Binder with AI walks you through filling each section with AI in fifteen minutes.

The cover page

SUBSTITUTE TEACHER BINDER

Room _____ · Teacher: _____

Everything you need for today is inside this binder. Thank you for being here — start with Section 1.

Print, slide into a binder's clear front cover pocket, done.

Five dividers to print and tab

SECTION 1

Daily Schedule

Bell times, where the sub goes each period, duty coverage.

SECTION 2

Rosters & Seating

Class lists and a seating chart per class — printed, never emailed.

SECTION 3

Emergency Procedures

Fire, lockdown, evacuation map, nurse and office numbers.

SECTION 4

Ready-to-Grab Activity

One no-copier, no-login activity per prep, for the day everything else fails.

SECTION 5

Class Routines & Culture

Entering, dismissal, signals, and the "how this room runs" summary.

What to gather before you print

- ☐ Current class rosters, one per period or block
- ☐ Seating charts, printed and current — names live here, on paper
- ☐ This week's bell schedule and any duty assignment
- ☐ Front office and nurse extensions, plus your grade-level lead's room number
- ☐ Two trusted student helpers per class you teach
- ☐ One evergreen activity per prep, printed, no technology required

Print & assembly tips

- Card stock for the dividers if you have it — they'll survive a whole year of pulling in and out of a binder.
- Clear sheet protectors for the emergency procedures page and the contacts sheet — the two pages most likely to get grabbed in a hurry.
- One binder per prep, or one per room — whichever matches how your building actually assigns substitutes.
- Tell your front office where it lives. A binder nobody can find at 5:30 a.m. isn't a system yet.

Now fill it in with AI, in 15 minutes: our Substitute Binder with AI gives you the master prompt and a prompt for every section above — schedule blurb, routines summary, and a ready lesson. In our TpT store.
